<https://www.universitaeuropadiroma.it/giurisprudenza/summer-school-international-trade-law/>

UER Summer School aims to provide a wide and in-depth understanding of the legal implications of the most relevant issues of international trade both on a substantial and procedural prospective. The program combines high-level lectures and professionalizing training offered by professors, lawyers, managers and experts operating in the international markets.

All lectures are given in English and the topic addressed range from transnational contracts to cooperation agreements, from project financing to equity and trust, from international commercial arbitration to the settlement of interstate disputes at WTO.

64 hours of class time

The program will run from 10th to 22nd June 2019 and includes 64 hours of class time divided in two weekly sessions on international trade and international arbitration, including a moot competition at the end of the second week. All lectures are given in English.

35 hours of visits

The program will offer visits to museums, art galleries, churches and monuments, giving students coming from abroad a consistent knowledge of History and Art in Rome, one of the cradles of the western civilization.

12 ECTS

Upon successful completion of the course and final examination, participants will be issued a certificate of attendance which qualifies them for the accreditation of 12 ECTS points.*
